EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS.

THE PROGRESS MADE IN LEARNING

IN ONE HUNDRED YEARS.

A Display at the Cincinnati Centennial Exposition That Will Interest Every Person Engaged in Educational Work in the United States.

This department was organized for work early in the year under the direction of Commissioners Howard Douglass, L. H. McCammon and H. J. Snider as a general committee on Education and Science.

These Commissioners especially desire that the Exposition may show the marvelous progress of education in this historic territory since its first settlement therein one hundred years ago, and that the Educational Exhibit may be worthy of the great interest it represents, they have invited all persons in charge of educational institutions, or engaged in any department of educational work in the States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin to co-operate with them in aiding in the display in whatever way show improved methods and appliances of teaching and the superior results thereof obtained.

The exhibit of the Department of Education will be represented in sixteen divisions, as follows:

Sixteenth—Schools of music and musical entertainments. The committee is Peter Rudolph Neff, Esq., of the Hall, Cincinnati; Professor G. T. Junkman, Superintendent of Music in the city public schools, and Miss Clara Bair, of the Conservatory of Music, Fourth and Lawrence streets.

Besides the co-operation of the above prominent educational workers in the departments arranged, the Archbishop of Cincinnati received an invitation for the Catholic schools, academies and colleges to take part in the Exposition, and, after consultation, he was satisfied that the invitation should be accepted, and appointed the following as a committee to attend to the exhibition on the part of the Catholic schools: Very Rev. John C. A. Albrink, V. G., Holy Trinity, Fifth street; Rev. A. H. Walling, of Bank street, and Rev. P. J. Ward, S. J., of St. Xavier's College.

The Archbishop appends to the report sent for exhibits the following very interesting and commendable recommendation:

"I am glad to express my hearty agreement with the unanimous sentiment of the reverend pastors consulted.

"The Centennial Exposition marks an important epoch in the history of the Ohio Valley. The labors of the church have been one of the very greatest factors in the progress of this hundred years. And among her labors none are more important, and none more entitled her to the respect of our fellow-citizens than what she is continually doing for the true education of the young—the leading up of the soul through nature to nature's God. Of course we have labored under great disadvantages in regard to means; but in spite of these, the devotedness of pastors and teachers and the good spirit of pupils have led to such results that we may well be glad to have an opportunity of letting the world see what we are doing.

"WILLIAM HENRY ELDER, Archbishop of Cincinnati.

"CINCINNATI, March 25, 1888."

There are no entry fees and no charges for space in any of the above departments of the Educational Exhibits, except to such manufacturers and publishers as may enter articles for premiums, and no premiums will be paid or prizes or medals awarded except for entries with payments of fees and charges. For special excellence in any department a certificate may be given or "honorable mention" made, at the option of the Board of Commissioners.

Applications for space should be received by May 1, and all exhibits in place, if possible, by June 15, 1888.

There are special circulars, sent out by each of the above named committees, applying to preparation of work and arrangements of exhibits, also other information pertaining to the exhibition, which any one interested may obtain by writing to the Department of Education, Box 776, cars of Centennial Exposition, Cincinnati, Ohio.

ON THE FLYING HORSE.

THE LIFE OF A MAIL CLERK IN THE SERVICE OF UNCLE SAM.

How Cincinnati Packs a Car—The Scheme of the Clerk—Catching Mail on the Fly—Transfers That Resemble Lightning.

HE life of a mail clerk on a fast line is a most busy one. He does not repose on a bed of roses. He has no sinecure. He is one of the hardest worked employees of the government, yet he makes less mistakes than men who have all day to do scarcely anything.

Some day when you feel like posting yourself as to how the mail is handled, get permission from the railway mail superintendent and board a car in Cincinnati, for instance. Your pass will admit you to the agent's car. You'll find no luxurious seats, no accommodations to speak of, but the interest will never flag. The car is filled to the roof with mail pouches. The five men with their little cases pulled tightly on their heads, and with their coats off, went to work with a will in getting things into shape. The train was about to pull out and a big commotion was going on outside. Big wagons bearing the sign "United States Mail" were backing up to the open door on either side of the car, and soon their contents were flung inside without regard to appearances. The Cincinnati papers, wet and limp, just off the press, and a ton of Cincinnati Centennial Exposition printed matter, were coming in. There seems to be a ton of Enquirers and Commercial Gazettes. As you all this stuff comes rolling in, you would expect to see the mail agents barred beneath this like beavers. But they escape and work like devils. At last the final bundle has been tossed in from a belated wagon that dashed up hurriedly. The conductor cries "all aboard," steam escapes from the engine, the bell rings, and away she goes.

Now the doors are closed and the clerks, whose clothing is dripping with perspiration, but who cannot relax their efforts, begin to dig a place to stand in while handling the mail.

First they empty the contents of numerous sacks upon tables that had to be cleaned off. Close to these tables are large cases with pigeon holes, each hole representing a postoffice or another railway mail car. Planted before each of these cases is a clerk, whose fingers and hands fitly represent perpetual motion.

Tearing the string from a bunch of letters, he begins to plug these pigeon holes with them. First in one direction, then in another, up high, down low, everywhere, his quick eye and nimble fingers slam those missives in the identical spot desired, but how he does it and makes no mistake is one of those things hard to find out. One bunch of letters may represent a half hundred postoffices in a half dozen states and territories. In order to get the letters in the right holes he must be an encyclopaedia of railway knowledge. The clerk must not only know the county every office is situated in, but the line of railroad it is on and in what manner it is served with mail, whether by direct pouch or by another mail car. He must, in fact, be able to draw a postal map of the state, and place thereon all the postoffices, railways, stage and mail routes. Multiply this by half a dozen states and territories and you gain an idea of the extent and complexity of the gazetteer a railway mail clerk must carry in his brains and makes demands upon a hundred times a minute.

In the other end of the car are scores of newspaper sacks hanging with their mouths open. Above them are scores of boxes. Here stand four men opening sacks of papers and firing the packages into the open bags and boxes as if their lives depended upon the number they could throw in a minute. Two clerks thus work on letters and four on newspapers. Just here a town or junction point is reached each man gathers up all the mail he has for the town or the connecting lines, and alone comes another man who bunches it all in a bag and throws it off as the train whisks by the station. At the same time he puts out the "catcher," that iron frame which takes a bag of mail from a crane by the side of the track as neatly as a ball player catches an easy fly.

He must not only throw them, but he must "tie them out." That is, wrap them in packages again before permitting them to leave his hands, and the most cruel part of it all is that he must attach to each bunch a slip bearing his name and date. Supposing he puts into one of these packages a letter which does not belong there. What then happens. Why, the postmaster or railway mail clerk into whose hands the package next falls looks at the name on the slip and reports an error to the chief of his division, and all such errors are charged up against a clerk until too many of them accumulate, and then off goes his head.

If you spend five minutes with a railway mail clerk you will hear him mention his "scheme." A railway mail clerk's scheme is not one of money making, but the plans by which he learns and remembers how to throw your letters and papers so they will most quickly arrive at their destination. The scheme is made out by states, and some clerks have to learn three or four states or parts of states, and learn them thoroughly. Necessary changes in the scheme are made by general order every Saturday, and the poor clerk who has been studying so hard to perfect himself finds that he must at once start in and learn his lesson over again.

The scheme is a railway clerk's nightmare. He sits up with it, sleeps with it and dreams of it. Most clerks are given runs which work them pretty hard for a week—say two of these fast mail runs to Chicago and back, or twenty hours of incessant toil—and then they are given a week off to rest and catch up on sleep and study their schemes. If it wasn't for these weeks off, the business would have to stop. The men would die of exhaustion, and besides, the schemes would go to wreck.

Ignatius Donnelly says the English are poking fun at him. Ig has enjoyed his joke so long that it is time the tables were turned.

The House of Representatives has passed a bill creating a Department of Labor. Tramps will give Washington a wide birth hereafter.

It seems that Capt. Stone will have a walk-over in the first district. It is whispered, however, that Col. Jas. B. Garnett is feeling around. Should he fling his castor, it would be Greek meet Greek between these two.

Congress has appropriated $200,000 to establish an arsenal at Columbia, Tenn. Congress has its eye on those Clarksville editors and has located the necessary means close at hand to save the county from their ravishing humor.

The Democratic managers have ordered thousands of copies of Ingall's recent speech on the President's message to be used as campaign documents. The next best thing to having your enemy write a book is to get him to make a speech.

The numerous candidates at Henderson to represent this district in the St. Louis convention agreed to submit their names to a committee of arbitrators, which resulted in the selection of Robert D. Vance. With home talent out of the way Bob stands a better showing.

A facetious Clarksville exchange says the tapping of our town clock is a funeral knell tolling our city to its grave. For downright, demitition funny fellows, these Clarksville editors are worthy of preservation as exulting samples of contemporaneous wit.

Don't let's get excited and build a railroad here with a single jerk. Keep cool, it will last longer. Some of these days Col. Townes will tap the undulating hills at the west three consecutive times with his magical wand and the long silver gleam of two parallel steel rails will flash out twenty miles of beautiful perspective before our eyes.

The Thomas bill passed the House Thursday by a vote of 36 to 26. The bill prevents railroads from making discriminating rates and appoints a Board of Assessors to estimate the value of railroad property in the State. This Board is composed of one member from each Superior Court district, who is to be paid $10 per day, and it is not to serve over 60 days in a year.

The Odd Fellows of Kentucky, upon invitation of the lodge and camp of Frankfort, will have their annual reunion there on June 13. The use of the Capital grounds has been secured and extensive arrangements have been made to entertain the large crowd which is expected to be present. Entertainment is being secured for a large number of the most prominent Odd Fellows in Kentucky and their families.

The Legislature proposes to establish a Bureau of Immigration with the sum of $5,000. If the Legislature wants to induce immigration, why don't it appropriate sufficient funds to enable the Bureau to do something? There is a heap of nonsense indulged over this thing of immigration any how. If the people of Kentucky will take their natural advantages in hand and begin the work, the outside world will find it out quick enough and flock in to the feast.

Some of the papers in the State have taken occasion to abuse Col. Tom Henry over the shoulders of the bill offered in the House, the other day, to investigate his office. Col. Henry was overtaken in a fault and no doubt deeply deplores it, and it is hardly charitable to fling irresponsible insults in his face at this time. The affairs of his office have been honorably and worthily administered by his deputies. The people have nothing to complain of from that source, and the vulgar sputterings of some of our papers are both unkind and unjust.

James A. McKenize is on Dick Tate's list for due bills to the amount of $322.90. A number of prominent citizens also figure in this capacity, however, there is nothing culpable in the matter. If a man borrowed money from Tate it amounted to the same thing as though he borrowed it of any other man. The borrowers were unconscious of the fact that the State was the lender. The officers who called on the Treasurer to anticipate their salaries are now sorry they did it, but there was nothing criminal in this either. The whole affair is unfortunate and many men will be made to suffer unjustly.

THE RAILROAD SITUATION.

The excessive railroad talk of the past few days is sufficient apology for an article on that subject. The situation is most serious, projects are numerous, and the chances to make a mistake are increasing.

The O. V. has been unfortunately circumvented. It has failed to put its line in here because it could not borrow the adequate amount of money. It may come yet, however, but let us presume for the sake of argument that it is dead. Under this presumption look what happens. Suddenly it is currently surmised that all the other enterprises are pure wind, and a project is born to give the L. & N. $50,000 to build a road to the I. A. & T. This is the situation pure and simple, and the immediate question is "shall we subsidize the L. & N.?"

Those who answer "yes" are influenced by these considerations: We would thus be put on an equal with Clarksville for the patronage of South Christian; we would even have the advantage, for the L. & N. would prefer to channel freight into this market that it might get a higher rate to haul it out, this being a non-competitive point. A competitive road would injure us for that would cause the L. & N. to center the trade of this section in Clarksville where it would not be annoyed by the opposing line. Therefore let us pay the L. & N. $50,000 to build the I. A. & T. connection.

Those who answer "no" hold these views: The great object of another road is to get competitive freight rates and we can not get this without a competitor. To build a branch to the I. A. & T. would only give us a fighting chance in a very small territory. There would be no inducement for the L. & N. to center trade in Clarksville if the same line came here besides the very efforts the L. & N. make to keep out another road demonstration the high value of it. Again, if the L. & N. should build this branch, our means of building any other company would be gone, the L. & N. would occupy all the territory, and not the vestige of a chance would remain to ever secure a competitive road.

The above are the arguments from both sides, and they are worth considering. It will be remembered that the L. & N. has twice come to us with propositions to build us this branch free of charge. Nobody objected, in fact everybody wanted it done, but the projected both times. Strange that so astute an observer as the L. & N. has not discovered how enormously she would be benefitted by running the freight of the county into this market; yet it is said she has refused to aid herself in this way because we voted $75,000 to another road and compelled her to pay a bonus for the I. A. & T. a little spirit of sentimentality railroads are rarely guilty of. For our part, we cannot conceive what the L. & N. wants with a branch from here to Bryants, and we do not believe she will build it unless we give her enough absolutely to pay the cost of construction. According to Maj. Robinette's survey (1885) it will cost $32,672.30 to build the road from here to Bryants ready for the iron, and $24,505.20 will complete it to Cadiz. Another thing, it is hardly probable that Hopkinsville will ever vote this subsidy, and about the only way to get a connection with Bryants is either for the L. & N. to build it free, or to get up a private subscription.

We desire to say that we are not opposed to the L. & N. scheme, we merely think it the least desirable thing to do, and, if all our other ventures fail, then let's assist her in the enterprise. In the meantime, don't let's get in so big a hurry that we will marry the wrong girl.

A member of the Owensboro bar thinks it was bad manners to present Judge Grace that watch in open court, and he has so informed the public through a card in the Messenger. All we have to say is that the etiquette of the Owensboro bar must be morbidly sensitive to be shocked at such a thing.

The Legislature has passed the Emigration bill, that is an act compelling county clerks to keep a register of all the doctors in the county, and making it unlawful for any one to practice medicine who is not a graduate of some medical college legally chartered, or who does not hold a certificate from a district board of examiners. This is a wise statutory provision. The country is full of quacks who practice on the credulity of people on big bees, who are also largely incompetent to manage a case of chills. People are prone to take medicine, and any adventurer can dispose of a cart load of nostrums if he has the cheek to push his wares on the public.

The ignorance and general cussedness that has cropped out among the members of the present Legislature suggest the advisability of securing a better order of intelligence and experience in the composition of that body. The salary fixed by law is $5 a day and this paltry figure virtually precludes the possibility of getting good material in the Legislature—Henderson Gleaser.

Two things must happen before we will get competent legislators: The people must determine to vote for none but good men, and some of our good men must make up their minds to sacrifice their own interest and put in a term of service for the good of the state. A splendid rule to observe would be to elect no man who wants the office.

THE TATE CAT OUT.

The Commissioners investigating Treasurer Tate's affairs have reported at last. The cat is out of the bag and everybody is ready with an opinion. The report shows that Tate's deficit as it appears on the face of the ledger is $220,000.21. The Commissioners discovered a considerable number of what appear to be off-sets. They are in the shape of unaudited claims, and will reduce the shortage about $190,000. Then there are the I. O. U.'s and some private property, which will make a further reduction of the deficit and probably bring it down to about $150,000.

Poor Dick Tate was a careless, rollicking soul. He took life as a joke. He had no business capacity whatever, and his cleverness alone kept him in office. They say he took a large amount of money with him, perhaps a hundred thousand dollars. No doubt his extremity of distress forced him to lay hold of this last chance of comfort. His crime should not be forgiven or palliated, but the man should be remembered with sympathy and tenderness.

Of course the republicans will try to give the affair a political turn, but it should be noted that not another state official was implicated. True Hewitt and McKenzie may be criticized for not keeping a stricter watch on the state funds, but their error was one of misplaced confidence. They candidly say they were deceived. With stricter vigilance they might have unmasked the forger and embezzler earlier, but even this is a question of human trust, not a matter of politics. A Democratic Governor and a Democratic Legislature unearthed the thief and have done everything to bring him to justice. There was no whitewash used, and certainly we are due the credit of punishing the faults of a friend with all the vigor and severity we would have inflicted upon the crime of an enemy.

The report is too long to be published in these columns. There is nothing sensational in it. It is simply a statement of how much was stolen by Tate, the summary of which is given above. The sad feature about the whole thing is that public confidence has been shocked, and the youth of our State have seen a man fall from the high estate of honor into the degradation of a hounded outlaw.

May God be with him in his loneliness and comfort him with that grace that heaven alone can bestow.

THE BRIBERY BILL.

A bill to prevent bribery in elections has passed the House. The bill provides that any voter receiving in any manner, at any time, anything of value as a consideration for his vote, shall be disfranchised for ten years. Agents or persons acting for candidates in bribing voters shall be disfranchised for ten years. Candidates and other persons furnishing money or other thing of value, for bribing voters, shall forfeit the office they held, and be disqualified for holding any State, county, city or town office for ten years.

The object of this bill is commendable, the only question is, will it work? It is a notorious fact that all over Kentucky, and everywhere else for that matter, there is a large element of professional voters who offer their ballots to the highest bidder. These, in some instances, absolutely control the government of towns and even counties. They are open to proposition and will flip from one candidate to another according as the aspirants show up the bottle. There is only one way to rid the body politics of these parasites, and that is for public sentiment to quicken this statute so that a man guilty of bribery either way is ipso facto dishonored and disgraced.

The "Old Fog" tells the Courier-Journal that "previous to the present constitution, the Legislature met once every year. Since 1840 the population of the State has more than doubled, and its wealth and business have more than quadrupled, and yet the Legislature is required by the constitution, now, to get through within 60 days, at biennial sessions, with the public business of a Commonwealth, which has more than doubled in population, and more than quadrupled its business, its wants and necessities. It is simply a proposition to crowd the contents of a bushel into a peck measure."

If grandfather Watterson's idea should be carried out, we would soon have the Legislature in session continuously, and then the country would be in as bad a fix as an iceberg in shades.

District Republican Meeting. The Republicans of this congressional district met at Nortonville Wednesday. Maj. Jno. W. Breathitt was elected permanent chairman and accepted the honor in a brilliant burst of campaign oratory. The convention did not endorse candidates for President and Vice-President. Ed Glass, col. of this city and Geo. W. Jolly, of Owensboro, were recommended for district delegates to Chicago convention, and Wm. Bourland, of Hopkins, for district elector, with A. H. Anderson assistant. All the counties in the district were represented but McLean and Webster, and there were 172 delegates present. The delegation that went from this city consisted of J. W. Breathitt, Harvey McCord, Ferd. Schmidt, Alex. Anderson, Harry Ferguson, Dave Wiley, Bill Long, John Prouse and Ed Glass, Alex. Brent, Phil Bell, Bill Gill and Whitlock, col.

JNO. O. RUST, Associate Editor.

Conkling left an estate of $250,000.

The Henderson Gleaser will hereafter be issued as an evening daily.

Senator Beck says he is not going to marry. He ought to know about it.

Mr. George Kennan will tell in the May Century how he came to go to Siberia on the Century expedition.

The 65,000 Democratic majority is pretty clear evidence that a tariff for revenue is taking mighty well down in Louisiana.

Ignatius Donnelly says the English are poking fun at him. Ig has enjoyed his joke so long that it is time the tables were turned.

The House of Representatives has passed a bill creating a Department of Labor. Tramps will give Washington a wide birth hereafter.

It seems that Capt. Stone will have a walk-over in the first district. It is whispered, however, that Col. Jas. B. Garnett is feeling around. Should he fling his castor, it would be Greek meet Greek between these two.

Congress has appropriated $200,000 to establish an arsenal at Columbia, Tenn. Congress has its eye on those Clarksville editors and has located the necessary means close at hand to save the county from their ravishing humor.

The Democratic managers have ordered thousands of copies of Ingall's recent speech on the President's message to be used as campaign documents. The next best thing to having your enemy write a book is to get him to make a speech.

The numerous candidates at Henderson to represent this district in the St. Louis convention agreed to submit their names to a committee of arbitrators, which resulted in the selection of Robert D. Vance. With home talent out of the way Bob stands a better showing.

A facetious Clarksville exchange says the tapping of our town clock is a funeral knell tolling our city to its grave. For downright, denunciation funny fellows, these Clarksville editors are worthy of preservation as exhumated samples of contemporaneous wit.

Don't let's get excited and build a railroad here with a single jerk. Keep cool, it will last longer. Some of these days Col. Townes will tap the undulating hills at the west three consecutive times with his magical wand and the long silver gleam of two parallel steel rails will flash out twenty miles of beautiful perspective before our eyes.

The Thomas bill passed the House Thursday by a vote of 36 to 26. The bill prevents railroads from making discriminating rates and appoints a Board of Assessors to estimate the value of railroad property in the State. This Board is composed of one member from each Superior Court district, who is to be paid $10 per day, and it is not to serve over 60 days in a year.

The Odd Fellows of Kentucky, upon invitation of the lodge and camp of Frankfort, will have their annual reunion there on June 13. The use of the Capital grounds has been secured and extensive arrangements have been made to entertain the large crowd which is expected to be present. Entertainment is being secured for a large number of the most prominent Odd Fellows in Kentucky and their families.

The Legislature proposes to establish a Bureau of Immigration with the sum of $5,000. If the Legislature wants to induce immigration, why don't it appropriate sufficient funds to enable the Bureau to do something? There is a heap of nonsense indulged over this thing of immigration any how. If the people of Kentucky will take their natural advantages in hand and begin the work, the outside world will find it out quick enough and flock in to the feast.

Some of the papers in the State have taken occasion to abuse Col. Tom Henry over the shoulders of the bill offered in the House, the other day, to investigate his office. Col. Henry was overtaken in a fault and no doubt deeply deplores it, and it is hardly charitable to fling irresponsible insults in his face at this time. The affairs of his office have been honorably and worthily administered by his deputies. The people have nothing to complain of from that source, and the vulgar sputterings of some of our papers are both unkind and unjust.

James A. McKenzie is on Dick Tate's O. U. list for due bills to the amount of $322.90. A number of prominent citizens also figure in this capacity, however, there is nothing culpable in the matter. If a man borrowed money from Tate it amounted to the same thing as though he borrowed it of any other man. The borrowers were unconscious of the fact that the State was the lender. The officers who called on the Treasurer to anticipate their salaries are now sorry they did it, but there was nothing criminal in this either. The whole affair is unfortunate and many men will be made to suffer unjustly.

THE RAILROAD SITUATION.

The excessive railroad talk of the past few days is sufficient apology for an article on that subject. The situation is most serious, projects are numerous, and the chances to make a mistake are increasing.

The O. V. has been unfortunately circumvented. It has failed to put its line in here because it could not borrow the adequate amount of money. It may come yet, however, but let us presume for the sake of argument that it is dead. Under this presumption look what happens. Suddenly it is currently surmised that all the other enterprises are pure wind, and a project is born to give the L. & N. $50,000 to build us a road to the I. A. & T. This is the situation pure and simple, and the immediate question is "shall we subsidize the L. & N.?"

Those who answer "yes" are influenced by these considerations: We would thus be put on an equal with Clarksville for the patronage of South Christian; we would even have the advantage, for the L. & N. would provide to channel freight into this market that it might get a higher rate to haul it out, this being a non-competitive point. A competitive road would injure us for that would cause the L. & N. to center the trade of this section in Clarksville where it would not be annoyed by the opposing line. Therefore let us pay the L. & N. $50,000 to build the I. A. & T. connection.

Those who answer "no" hold these views: The great object of another road is to get competitive freight rates and we can get this without a competitor. To build a branch to the I. A. & T. would only give us a fighting chance in a very small territory. There would be no inducement for the L. & N. to center trade in Clarksville if the same line that comes here should go to that place; besides the very efforts the L. & N. make to keep out another road demonstrate the high value of it. Again, if the L. & N. should build this branch, our means of aiding any other company would be gone, the L. & N. would occupy all the territory, and not the vestige of a chance would remain to ever secure a competitive road.

The above are the arguments from both sides, and they are worth considering. It will be remembered that the L. & N. has twice come to us with propositions to build us this branch free of charge. Nobody objected, in fact everybody wanted it done, but the project died both times. Strange that so astute an observer as the L. & N. has not discovered how enormously she would be benefited by running the freight of the county into this market; yet it is said she has refused to aid herself in this way because we voted $75,000 to another road and compelled her to pay a bonus for the I. A. & T.—a little spirit of sentimentality railroads are rarely guilty of. For our part, we cannot conceive what the L. & N. wants with a branch from here to Bryants, and we do not believe she will build it unless we give her enough absolutely to pay the cost of construction. According to Maj. Robinette's survey (1885) it will cost $32,672.30 to build the road from here to Bryants ready for the iron, and $24,505.20 will complete it to Cadiz. Another thing, it is hardly probable that Hopkinsville will ever vote this subsidy, and about the only way to get a connection with Bryants is either for the L. & N. to build it free, or to get up a private subscription.

We desire to say that we are not opposed to the L. & N. scheme, we merely think it the least desirable thing to do, and, if all our other ventures fail, then let assist her in the enterprise. In the meantime, don't let's get in so big a hurry that we will marry the wrong girl.

A member of the Owensboro bar thinks it was bad manners to present Judge Grace that watch in open court, and he has so informed the public through a card in the Messenger. All we have to say is that the etiquette of the Owensboro bar should be morbidly sensitive to be shocked at such a thing.

The Legislature has passed the Emigration bill, that is an act compelling county clerks to keep a register of all the doctors in the county, and making it unlawful for any one to practice medicine who is not a graduate of some medical college legally chartered, or who does not hold a certificate from a district board of examiners. This is a wise statutory provision. The country is full of quacks who practice on the credulity of people on big bees, who are absolutely incompetent to manage a case of chills. People are prone to take medicine, and any adventurer can dispose of a cart load of nostrums if he has the cheek to push his wares on the public.

The ignorance and general cussedness that has cropped out among the members of the present Legislature suggest the advisability of securing a better order of intelligence and experience in the composition of that body. The salary fixed by law is $5 a day and this paltry figure virtually precludes the possibility of getting good material in the Legislature.—Henderson Gleaser.

Two things must happen before we will get competent legislators: The people must determine to vote for none but good men, and some of our good men must make up their minds to sacrifice their own interest and put in a term of service for the good of the state. A splendid rule to observe would be to elect no man who wants the office.

THE TATE CAT OUT.

The Commissioners investigating Treasurer Tate's affairs have reported at last. The cat is out of the bag and everybody is ready with an opinion. The report shows that Tate's deficit as it appears on the face of the ledger is $220,000.21. The Commissioners discovered a considerable number of what appear to be offsets. They are in the shape of unaudited claims, and will reduce the shortage about $100,000. Then there are the I. O. U.'s and some private property, which will make a further reduction of the deficit and probably bring it down to about $150,000.

Poor Dick Tate was a careless, rollicking soul. He took life as a joke. He had no business capacity whatever, and his cleverness alone kept him in office. They say he took a large amount of money with him, perhaps a hundred thousand dollars. No doubt his extremity of distress forced him to lay hold of this last chance of comfort. His crime should not be forgiven or palliated, but the man should be remembered with sympathy and tenderness.

Of course the republicans will try to give the affair a political turn, but it should be noted that not another state official was implicated. True Hewitt and McKenzie may be criticized for not keeping a stricter watch on the state funds, but their error was one of misplaced confidence. They candidly say they were deceived. With stricter vigilance they might have unmasked the forger and embezzler earlier, but even this is a question of human trust, not a matter of politics. A Democratic Governor and a Democratic Legislature unearthed the thief and have done everything to bring him to justice. There was no whitewash used, and certainly we are due the credit of punishing the faults of a friend with all the vigor and severity we would have inflicted upon the crime of an enemy.

The report is too long to be published in these columns. There is nothing sensational in it. It is simply a statement of how much was stolen by Tate, the summary of which is given above. The sad feature about the whole thing is that public confidence has been shocked, and the youth of our State have seen a man fall from the high estate of honor into the degradation of a hounded outlaw.

May God be with him in his loneliness and comfort him with that grace that heaven alone can bestow.

THE BRIBERY BILL.

A bill to prevent bribery in elections has passed the House. The bill provides that any voter receiving in any manner, at any time, anything of value as a consideration for his vote shall be disfranchised for ten years. Agents or persons acting for candidates in bribing voters shall be disfranchised for ten years. Candidates and other persons furnishing money or other thing of value, for bribing voters, shall forfeit the office then held, and be disqualified for holding any State, county, city or town office for ten years.

The object of this bill is commendable, the only question is, will it work? It is a notorious fact that all over Kentucky, and everywhere else for that matter, there is a large element of professional voters who offer their ballots to the highest bidder. These, in some instances, absolutely control the government of towns and even counties. They are open to propositions and will drop from one candidate to another according as the aspirants show up the boodle. There is only one way to rid the body politics of these parasites, and that is for public sentiment to quicken this statute so that a man guilty of bribery either way is ipso facto dishonored and disgraced.

The "Old Fog" tells the Courier-Journal that "previous to the present constitution, the Legislature met once every year. Since 1840 the population of the State has more than doubled, and its wealth and business have more than quadrupled, and yet the Legislature is required by the constitution, now, to get through within 60 days, at biennial sessions, with the public business of a Commonwealth, which has more than doubled in population, and more than quadrupled its business, its wants and necessities. It is simply a proposition to crowd the contents of a bushel into a peck measure."

If grandfather Watterson's idea should be carried out, we would soon have the Legislature in session continuously, and then the country would be in as bad a fix as an iceberg in hades.

District Republican Meeting.

The Republicans of this congressional district met at Nortonville Wednesday. Maj. Jno. W. Breathitt was elected permanent chairman and accepted the honor in a brilliant burst of campaign oratory. The convention did not endorse candidates for President and Vice-President. Ed Glass, col. of this city and Geo. W. Jolly, of Owensboro, were recommended for district delegates to Chicago convention, and Wm. Bourland, of Hopkins, for district elector, with A. H. Anderson assistant. All the counties in the district were represented but McLean and Webster, and there were 172 delegates present.

The delegation that went from this city consisted of J. W. Breathitt, Harvey McCord, Ferd. Schmidt, Alex. Anderson, Harry Ferguson, Dave Wiley, Bill Long, John Prouse and Ed Glass, Alex. Brent, Phil Bell, Bill Gill and Whitlock, col.

The father and son are both typical gentlemen of high social culture and refinement, and their old friends were delighted to see them in Hopkinsville once again. While in the city they were the guests of Dr. E. R. Cook, and Wednesday evening the doctor invited a number of our prominent citizens to meet his visitors. An elegant supper was served with all the appointments that the latest accomplishments of culinary art could dictate. Covers were laid for twenty and right heartily did the company enjoy the "flow of reason and feast of soul." Among those present were Messrs. Wm. Cowan, Geo. O. Thompson, R. M. Fairleigh, L. B. The county sues the railroad for $7,300 unpaid taxes running through the years '82, '83, '84 and '85. The railroad sues the county for almost an equal amount of back taxes which it claims to have paid the county in excess of the lawful rate for the 5 years previous to '82. The case is an interesting and important one and the decision of the court is eagerly looked for.

Eld. J. W. Gant, of Elkton, preached at the Christian church Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Our Sunday School was re-organized Sunday evening.

The M. E. Church will hold their quarterly conference at Wood's Chapel, near this place, on the first Sunday in May. Hereafter they will hold their regular monthly meetings on the second Sunday of each month.

Our farmers have been taking advantage of the few days of good weather lately and a good deal of farm work has been done. By the way, your printer made me say in my last "complaining is in order." The item was very appropriate, but I meant to say "corn planting is in order."

Fire broke out on Mrs. Millie Orten's farm last Sunday and burned about a thousand fine rails (mostly new ones) before the flames could be subdued. I hear of several fires of this kind but this one was the most destructive.

A little girl of Mr. Van Parker's sucked a cotton seed into her lungs about six weeks ago, but as it seemed to give the child no particular trouble at first its parents supposed it had swallowed it and gave the matter but little attention until recently the child began to complain, when they summoned medical aid but to no avail. The little sufferer grew steadily worse until death relieved her on Sunday evening.

ROUGH AND READY.

Chas. Haden, engineer at Wood's mill, met with a painful accident Tuesday. He was soldering two pipes with some molten lead and when the lead came in contact with the cold pipe a slight explosion occurred throwing the hot metal into his left eye. His physicians think they may possibly save his eye.

The good people of the Pembroke Baptist church recently made a liberal donation to their former pastor, Rev. J. M. Peay, of Russellville, to enable him to take a trip to Texas for his health. We are sorry to learn that Mr. Peay is now too ill to travel and his condition is constantly becoming more critical.

A Delightful Evening.

The visit of Col. James F. Buckner and his son, Col. Lewis Buckner, and grandson, Buckner Speed, has been especially pleasant to many of our citizens. The father and son are both typical gentlemen of high social culture and refinement, and their old friends were delighted to see them in Hopkinsville once again. While in the city they were the guests of Dr. E. R. Cook, and Wednesday evening the doctor invited a number of our prominent citizens to meet his visitors. An elegant supper was served with all the appointments that the latest accomplishments of culinary art could dictate. Covers were laid for twenty and right heartily did the company enjoy the "flow of reason and feast of soul." Among those present were Messrs. Wm. Cowan, Geo. O. Thompson, R. M. Fairleigh, L. B. Hickman, H. B. Garner, J. W. McPherson, Ike Burnett, J. W. Pritchett, M. D. Roales, E. P. Campbell, W. G. Wheeler, S. C. Mercer. Dr. Cook was accorded the highest praise by his guests and the company for his hospitality and kindness.

The County and the Railroad.

Judge Feland for the L. & N. and Col. Clark for the county argued the case of Christian county vs. the L. & N. Railroad before the Court of Appeals in Frankfort yesterday. Two suits have been brought, one by each party, which are joined by agreement for final adjudication. The county sues the railroad for $7,300 unpaid taxes running through the years '82, '83, '84 and '85. The railroad sues the county for almost an equal amount of back taxes which it claims to have paid the county in excess of the lawful rate for the 5 years previous to '82. The case is an interesting and important one and the decision of the court is eagerly looked for.

Representative E. G. Seabree was in the city Tuesday. He says the Legislature will certainly adjourn May 4th. Mr. Seabree is attending his father at Trenton, and we are glad to learn his condition has improved.

Workhouse

Workhouse manager Taylor Brown and his assistant, Jim Lander, took the prisoners from the jail and put them to work on the Greenville road. Mr. Brown went to the lockup to get Bud. McCarty, col. As soon as the young prisoner sniffed the free atmosphere he led the Manager a foot race and made his escape. Bud made a detour of the town, putting in his appearance at the depot. He met Dad Moore, col., who was the cause of his incarceration, and tried to brain him with a rock. The police are after the fellow and will probably catch him.

The Knight Templars held their annual election Monday night resulting as follows: C. H. Dietrich, S. C.; F. L. Waller, G.; Thos. Rodman, C. G.; B. W. Stone, P.; S. L. Salter, S. W.; Bryan Hopper, J. Councilman A. H. Anderson after raking us for our workhouse criticisms, subjected himself to an interview on the whisky question. Said he, "I have seen all the men who would likely enter the whisky business and a number of other citizens, and I think a license of $1,000 would be unsatisfactory. The Council has a right to fix the license, and I would vote to place it at $500. This would give us about 10 saloons." He expressed this opinion on the presumption that the prohibitionists would not make a fight next May.

The announcement of Gordon Hanbury as an independent republican candidate for sheriff will be found in another column. Mr. Hanbury says his motive for making the race is that a combination exists in his party in this county, which makes it impossible for anyone outside of the ring to secure any office. He is not willing to submit his claims to this combination in a convention, but appeals to the party to assist him the first Monday in August. He is a trustworthy citizen and would make a competent officer.
